Face coverings:

It is possible to spread COVID-19 to others even if you do not feel sick. To protect those around you, the CDC now recommends that everyone wear a cloth face cover when out in public.

Homemade masks recommended by CDC, are not surgical masks or N-95 respirators. Those are critical supplies that must continue to be reserved for healthcare workers and other medical first responders, recommended by current CDC guidance. To ensure those supplies remain optimal for critical care staff, homemade masks will be used by non-critical care and administrative employees.

Homemade masks can be made from t-shirts, bandanas, or other 100% cotton materials. Face coverings should not be placed on children under age 2, on anyone who is having trouble breathing, is unconscious, or unable to remove the mask without assistance. Face coverings are meant to protect other people in case you are infected. They do not protect you from becoming infected. All residents should continue to stay home, practice social distancing and other protection measures. For more information, visit:
